2. A spreadsheet showing for each degree, major and option the number of credits in the major, credits in General Education, credits of free electives, total credits required and General Education Waiver was distributed with the agenda.

Curriculum Committee minutes – February 21, 2003, page 7:
15 credits of free electives. The Faculty Budget and Resource Committee sent a memo to the Council of Chairs, the Curriculum Committee, the Faculty Welfare Committee and the Planning Committee, asking for support of their proposed Curriculum Parameters. At the December 20th Curriculum Committee meeting the related CBC recommendations were discussed; Committee members were to write a draft statement and e-mail it to Dan Kervick; Dan was to compile the results and report them to the Curriculum Committee. Also at the December 20th Curriculum Committee meeting, Jonathan Santore presented a memo regarding the BS Music Education program (it requires 133 credits with no electives); theirs is K-12 certification and they have many competencies to meet. The FBRC proposal was discussed: no mechanism for enforcing it; what do we do if a department does not do it; wording is not strong; maybe we could give some language; should build in an appeal mechanism; should be a supportive process; focus should be that this is philosophically good for our students; it is difficult to force something that doesn’t feel right. The FBRC proposal was amended (see italics):

Curriculum Parameters:
A. All bachelor’s level undergraduate programs (that is major/option combinations) at Plymouth State College will contain a minimum of 15 credit hours of free, non-directed, electives. Students may choose elective courses with the assistance of their academic advisor or may use their free electives to transfer courses into Plymouth State College or complete a minor that is not required for graduation.
B. New programs that are brought forward should meet the 15 credit hours of free, non-directed, electives standard. Programs that are not now in compliance should move toward compliance as they make any future curriculum modifications without increasing the credits required for graduation.

C. Deviations from these goals should be justified to the Curriculum Committee any time a program not in compliance is revised.

Approved 8-1-0-1 by the Curriculum Committee.
Approved 2/28/03 by the Executive Council.
Approved 3/5/03 by the Faculty.

How do we move things forward? The 15 credits of free electives came from this committee to the faculty, to give students flexibility, if they change their major, if they wanted a minor, if they had transfer credits. There have been lots of conversations recently including time-to-degree, complexity of programs, tightly constrained programs; thus, the call for curricular revision. We need to work on the curriculum. Moving from 122 credits to 120 credits is one element of curriculum revision. We need to take a critical look at the curriculum. BA degrees should be 1/3 major, 1/3 General Education and 1/3 free electives. We have some BA programs with 60+ credits in the major (more than half of the degree). We need shared governance to address this. Get back to departments who have not yet looked at their programs.

External accreditation? This committee has been understanding about this. There is a fine line between allowing them to use this as a shield. Accrediting bodies tell us the competencies that have to be met, not the specific courses needed to meet those competencies.

New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC): 2003 was our 10 year report; we have done our five year report. We must show in our next report movement in:

- Assessment – need to get entrenched in that, get some structures in place
- “Commodious offerings”
- Large complex programs and low enrolled programs.

Dan Moore and Scott Mantie will be meeting with departments this year. We need to do an academic plan; curriculum revision should be tied into that. Do we need a curriculum representative with Dan and Scott? Assessment and planning; help with the department getting started. Compare your program with other schools.

Low enrollment programs—how are they defined? The number of graduates each year; no specific number from NEASC. Philosophy is the smallest major.

The role of the Council of Chairs? Chairs are academic leaders. The Council of Chairs is not part of faculty governance. The Provost goes through the Chairs and faculty committees.

Check the department about their outside reviewers? Departments have to submit a copy of their Program Review to the Curriculum Committee. The Curriculum Committees doesn’t do anything with them.

Software packages for assessment? Overwhelming to collect the data and analyze it; not feasible to do all that needs to be done in a committee. Helpful to have working definition of “assessment.” Start with course embedded assessment. Have been looking at I folios, web folios, electronic folios to use; can be used per student and institutionally. TRACKDAT is an electronic assessment tool.
CURRICULUM COMMITTEE

The executive committee of the Curriculum Committee should group proposals and present them as a consent agenda. Any member can request the removal of an item from the consent agenda.

Beth will send links, e.g., NEASC, for the next meeting so we can have time to talk.

Lab fees—why don’t we have them? The Chairs of the three departments in Boyd are talking to the Provost and Assistant Provost.

The meeting adjourned at 4:30 pm.

The Curriculum Committee meets on the third Friday of the month from 2:30 until 5 pm in the Student Senate room (HUB 119). Proposals need to reach the Chair 10 days prior to the meeting. Their next meeting is Friday, October 16th.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary E. Campbell, Scribe
Director of Curriculum Support
