- For the purpose of determining financial aid eligibility, Early Spring 2020 is considered part of the Spring 2020 semester. The number of credits you take during Early Spring will be combined with the number of credits you take during the traditional Spring semester.
- Students may enroll in a maximum of 6 credit hours during Early Spring.
- Students must be enrolled in at least 6 credits during the combined terms to be eligible for federal loans.
- Early Spring costs will be billed separately, but any approved Early Spring aid is part of the Spring semester and will be disbursed along with the Spring aid (usually the first day of Spring Semester).
- If you are already receiving the maximum Federal Direct loan, then only a Parent PLUS Loans or Alternative loans might be available to you. These loans require a separate application.
- If you previously declined Federal Direct Student loans for the current academic year, you may request the loans be reinstated to cover the additional Early Spring costs.

Please indicate the number of credits you will be taking each term:
