Introduction

Plymouth State University (PSU) is pleased to provide the results of its 2022 Sexual Misconduct Climate Survey. PSU administered the survey in compliance with RSA 188-H, which requires all of New Hampshire's Institutions of Higher Education to conduct a sexual misconduct climate survey biennially and publish a summary report on the findings. This survey, developed by a statewide task force, was administered to 3,913 students during Spring Term 2022. The survey was open from March 14th through March 31st.

On the first day of the survey administration, students were sent an email from PSU's president with the direct link to the survey on Qualtrics. Two reminder emails to complete the Sexual Misconduct Survey were sent out to the students by the Title IX coordinator, one mid-administration and one on the last day the survey was available. Additional outreach efforts included targeted emails to groups of students, posters and lawn signs with QR codes to the survey, and communications with faculty, staff, and off-campus landlords to promote PSU students' participation. The survey yielded a response rate of 24%, with 954 students who were 18 or older taking the survey. It generated a completion rate of 46%, with 441 students completing the full survey.

The baseline NH RSA 188-H Sexual Misconduct Survey is based on ARC3 and asked students to answer questions regarding a broad range of issues, including their knowledge of campus prevention resources, their beliefs about how their college would respond to disclosures of sexual misconduct, their perceptions of the climate, and reporting experiences of sexual misconduct.¹ The survey also contained questions about students' experiences with sexual harassment, sexual violence, stalking, and dating violence. PSU reviewed the baseline survey and adjusted response categories to align with campus offices and resources.

The following Survey Data Report presents aggregate data from the survey questions. A copy of the survey instrument is available in the appendix.

Questions about the administration of this survey or its results may be directed to Janette Wiggett, Plymouth State University Title IX Coordinator.

¹ As defined by the ARC3 survey, sexual misconduct refers to physical contact or non-physical conduct of a sexual nature in the absence of clear, knowing and voluntary consent. Examples include sexual or gender-based harassment, stalking, dating violence, and sexual violence (ARC3, 2015).

Survey Data Report

1. Response Rate and Survey Demographics

Students enrolled at Plymouth State University were invited to participate in the Sexual Misconduct Climate Survey. Of the 3,913 students who were emailed the link to the survey, 954 students aged 18 or older participated in and completed the survey. Thus, the overall response rate was 24%.

Respondents could choose the questions they wished to answer. In addition, some questions in the survey were shown based on participants' responses to prior questions. Accordingly, the number of responses presented in the following tables vary by question because some participants chose to skip or were not shown some of the questions.

Table 1 presents key demographic characteristics of survey respondents. In the survey sample, 66% of respondents identified as women, 46% were 20-21, 67% identified as heterosexual, and 94% as white.

2. Sexual Misconduct

The types of victimization measured in the sexual misconduct climate survey included participant reports of sexual harassment by a faculty and/or staff member, sexual harassment by fellow students, stalking, dating violence, and sexual violence victimization. Participants were asked to identify all the victimization types that they have experienced “since enrolling at Plymouth State University.”

Participants who indicated experiencing at least one incident of a given type of victimization (mentioned above) were asked follow-up questions for that section. The data presented are not mutually exclusive, meaning that individuals could be counted in each subcategory more than once (i.e., they experienced more than one type of victimization).

A. Sexual Harassment by Faculty/Staff

The ARC3 Climate Survey measured sexual harassment by a faculty member, instructor, or staff member using the 16-item Department of Defense Sexual Experiences Questionnaire (SEQ-DoD) (Fitzgerald et al, 1999) that asked students to rate the frequency with which each item had occurred since enrolling at their college as never, once or twice, sometimes, often, or many times. Any answer other than never for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Overall, 237 participants (42%) reported experiencing at least one incident of sexual harassment by a faculty or staff member (Table 4).

Table 4: Sexual Harassment by Faculty/Staff	% Experienced At Least One Incident	n/N⁴
Individuals Reporting Sexual Harassment Victimization by Faculty/Staff	42%	237/560

Table 5 summarizes participants’ reported rates of sexual harassment perpetrated by faculty/staff. Since participants could report multiple experiences of sexual harassment victimization, the table shows the number (n) and percent (%) of participants who reported at least one of each situation of sexual harassment by faculty/staff, as well as the total number of respondents to the question (N).

Less than a third (27%) of students indicated that they had experienced a faculty member, instructor, or staff member treating them differently because of their sex or gender identity. About a quarter (23%) had been in situations where a faculty or staff member made offensive sexist remarks. Less than a fifth of respondents reported experiencing any of the other measures of sexual harassment by faculty/staff.

⁴ n/N reports the number of respondents who experienced this form of sexual misconduct at least once over (n) over all students who responded to questions relating to this form of sexual misconduct (N).

Follow-Up: Sexual Harassment by Faculty/Staff

All participants who reported at least one incident of sexual harassment by a faculty or staff member were directed to answer follow-up questions based on the participant’s identification of one situation of sexual harassment by faculty/staff.

Table 6 presents characteristics of the incidents of sexual harassment by faculty/staff. More than a third (69%) of the respondents who experienced this form of sexual misconduct reported that a man was the perpetrator, and most perpetrators were reported to be faculty members (70%). Sexual harassment by faculty/staff occurred mostly on campus (88%).

Students were also asked to identify the impact the incident had on their academic performance and negative financial impacts on their academic career (Table 7). Among students who reported having ⁷ Because these measures did not include a 'non-applicable' option for students who did not experience any academic or financial impacts, there is no base number of respondents to generate percentages. Only the number of students who checked each option is reported.

B. Sexual Harassment by Fellow Students

The ARC3 measured sexual harassment by fellow students with nine items from the Sexual Experiences Questionnaire (Fitzgerald et al., 1988, 1995) and three items from the AAUW Knowledge Networks Survey (Nukulij, 2011) that asked students to rate the frequency with which each item had since enrolling at their college as never, once or twice, sometimes, often, or many times. Any answer other than never for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Overall, 337 participants (61%) reported experiencing at least one incident of sexual harassment by another student (Table 8). This was the most prevalent form of sexual misconduct victimization.

Table 8: Sexual Harassment by Students	% Experienced At Least One Incident	n/N⁸

Table 9 summarizes participants' reported rates of sexual harassment perpetrated by a fellow student. The table provides the number (n) and percent (%) of participants who reported at least one incident of a given sexual harassment, as well as the total number of respondents to the question (N). The situations that the highest proportion of students reported experiencing were that a student made offensive sexist remarks (44%) or treated them differently due to their sex or gender identity (43%).

Follow-Up: Sexual Harassment by Fellow Students

All participants who reported at least one incident of sexual harassment by a student were directed to answer follow-up questions based on the participant’s identification of one situation of sexual harassment by a student.

Table 10 presents characteristics of the incidents of sexual harassment by students. Most students reported that the perpetrator was a man (83%) and was an undergraduate student at PSU (86%). Most students’ experiences of sexual harassment by fellow students occurred on campus (73%).

Students were also asked to identify the impact the incident had on their academic performance and negative financial impacts on their academic career (Table 11). A reduction in grade point average was the most prevalent negative academic impact, with 51 students reporting it as a consequence of sexual harassment by fellow students.

⁹ Some of the measures in this table allowed students to check all that apply, so cumulative percentages can exceed 100%.

¹⁰ Because these measures did not include a 'non-applicable' option for students who did not experience any academic or financial impacts, there is no base number of respondents to generate percentages.

C. Stalking

Stalking was measured on the ARC3 with 8 items from the National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey (NISVS) (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 2011) that asked students to rate the frequency with which each item had occurred since enrolling at their college as none, 1-2 times, 3-5 times, 5-8 times, or more than 8 times. Any answer other than never for each type of sexual harassment was treated as an affirmative response.

Table 12 presents details regarding participants' reported rates of stalking. Of the 495 student participants who completed these questions on the survey, 38% reported experiencing at least one instance of stalking victimization.

Table 12: Stalking	% Experienced At Least One Incident	n/N¹¹
Individuals Reporting Stalking Victimization	38%	189/495

Table 13 summarizes participants' reported incidents of stalking victimization. The table lists the number (n) and percent (%) of participants who reported at least one incident of a given form of stalking, as well as the total number of respondents to each question (N).

The most prevalent incidents of stalking were that the perpetrator sent the survey participant unwanted emails, instant messages, or sent messages through social media apps such as Facebook, Instagram, Snapchat, Twitter, TikTok, etc., that the perpetrator watched or followed the respondent from a distance, or spied on them with a listening device, camera, or GPS, and that the perpetrator approached the victim or showed up in places, such as at their home, workplace, or school when they didn't want them to be there. For all three instances, 18% of respondents reported experiencing these forms of stalking at least once.

¹¹ n/N reports the number of respondents who experienced this form of sexual misconduct at least once over (n) over all students who responded to questions relating to this form of sexual misconduct (N).

Follow-Up: Stalking

All participants who reported at least one incident of stalking were directed to follow-up questions based on the participant’s identification of one situation of stalking victimization.

As shown in Table 14, men were most likely to be the person who committed the stalking behavior (74%), and many students were stalked by a stranger (26%) or acquaintance (25%). Over two-thirds of stalking victims (69%) reported that the stalking incident occurred on campus.

¹² Some of the measures in this table allowed students to check all that apply, so cumulative percentages can exceed 100%.

Nearly three-quarters (74%) of respondents reported not having used alcohol nor drugs just prior to the incident, as shown in Table 15.

Students were also asked to identify the impact the incident had on their academic performance and negative financial impacts on their academic career (Table 16). The impact affecting the most students was a reduced grade point average.

¹³ Because these measures did not include a 'non-applicable' option for students who did not experience any academic or financial impacts, there is no base number of respondents to generate percentages.

D. Dating Violence

Dating violence was measured with 6 items from the Partner Victimization Scale (Hamby, 2014) and the Women’s Experience with Battering Scale (Smith, Earp, & DeVellis, 1995). These items assessed both physical and psychological dating violence experienced by participants. Participants were asked questions about incidents involving any “hook-up, boyfriend, girlfriend, husband, or wife, including exes” since enrolling at their college. Participants rated the frequency with which each item had occurred as never, once or twice, sometimes, often, or many times. An affirmative response to one or more items indicated dating violence victimization.

Overall, 126 participants (26%) experienced at least one incident of dating violence, as shown in Table 17.

Table 17: Dating Violence	% Experienced At Least One Incident	n/N¹⁴

Table 18 presents the participant reported rates for each category of dating violence victimization. The table includes the number (n) and percent (%) of participants who reported at least one incident of a particular form of dating violence, as well as the total number of respondents to the question (N).

The incident of dating violence experienced by the most survey respondents was that a hook-up, boyfriend, girlfriend, husband, or wife can scare them without laying a hand on them. Nearly a quarter (23%) of respondents experienced this form of dating violence.

¹⁴ n/N reports the number of respondents who experienced this form of sexual misconduct at least once over (n) over all students who responded to questions relating to this form of sexual misconduct (N).

Follow-Up: Dating Violence

All participants who reported at least one instance of dating violence victimization were directed to follow-up questions based on the participant’s identification of one incident of dating violence victimization.

As shown in Table 19, the majority of participants reported that the perpetrator was a man (84%) and identified the perpetrator as their former romantic partner (31%) or romantic partner (30%). Dating violence incidents occurred both on-campus (60%) and off-campus (53%).

¹⁵ Some of the measures in this table allowed students to check all that apply, so cumulative percentages can exceed 100%.

A high majority of respondents had not been using either alcohol or drugs just prior to the dating violence incident (69%), as reported in Table 20.

Students were also asked to identify the impact the incident had on their academic performance and negative financial impacts on their academic career. As presented in Table 21, the most prevalent impact was reducing a student's grade point average.

¹⁶ Because these measures did not include a 'non-applicable' option for students who did not experience any academic or financial impacts, there is no base number of respondents to generate percentages. Only the number of students who checked each option is reported.

E. Sexual Violence

The ARC3 measured sexual violence victimization using the Sexual Experiences Survey Short Form Victimization (SES-SFV) (Koss et al., 2007). The SES-SFV has 25 questions measuring five types of sexual violence victimization. For each question, students indicated the frequency (0 times, 1 time, 2 times, or 3+ times) with which someone used coercion, force, or incapacitation against them since they enrolled at their college. An affirmative response to one or more items indicated sexual violence victimization.

Overall, 135 participants (31%) reported at least one incident of sexual violence victimization since enrolling at their college, as presented in Table 22.

Table 22: Sexual Violence	% Experienced At Least One Incident	n/N¹⁷
Individuals Reporting Sexual Violence Victimization	31%	135/441

Table 23 reports the percent and number of students who reported at least one incident of each of the five types of sexual violence victimization measured within the ARC3. Incidents where perpetrators fondled, kissed, or rubbed up against the private areas of a victim or removed some of their clothes without their consent were the most widely experienced form of sexual violence, with 28% of students reporting having experienced this situation one or more times.

Tables 24 and 25 present participants' reported rates for coercion tactics associated with each type of sexual violence. The tables show the number (n) and percent (%) of participants who reported at least one incident of a given coercion type used in each type of sexual violence victimization, as well as the total number of respondents to the question (N).

¹⁷ n/N reports the number of respondents who experienced this form of sexual misconduct at least once over (n) over all students who responded to questions relating to this form of sexual misconduct (N).

Follow-Up: Sexual Violence

All participants who reported at least one instance of sexual violence victimization were directed to follow-up questions related to the participant’s identification of one incident of sexual violence victimization.

As shown in Table 26, a high majority of respondents reported that the perpetrator was a man (88%). The perpetrators were a variety of classifications, including a friend (21%), a former romantic partner (18%), and a stranger (16%). These sexual violence incidents occurred both on campus (55%) and off campus (55%).

¹⁸ Some of the measures in this table allowed students to check all that apply, so cumulative percentages can exceed 100%.

Students' responses indicate that a quarter of perpetrators had been using alcohol (25%) and 19% had been using both alcohol and drugs just prior to the incident. Less than half (49%) of respondents had been using alcohol just prior to the incident (Table 27).

Students were also asked to identify the impact the incident had on their academic performance and negative financial impacts on their academic career, presented in Table 28. The most widespread impact was a reduced grade point average.

3. Reporting

Nearly three-quarters (72%) of students told someone about the incident of sexual violence victimization before responding to this survey (Table 29).

Table 29: Telling Someone About Sexual Violence Victimization	% Yes	n/N
Individual told someone about the incident	72%	88/123

Students who told someone were asked to indicate whom they told. Table 30 shows that close friends other than roommates (73%) and roommates (52%) were the people that most victims of sexual violence talked with about the incident.

Students who did not tell anyone about the incident were asked why. Table 31 indicates that, among those who said they did not tell anyone about their sexual violence victimization, the most common reasons were that it is a private matter and they wanted to deal with it on their own (54%) and that they didn't think what happened was serious enough to talk about (51%).

²⁰ The measure in this table allowed students to check all that apply, so the cumulative percentage exceeds 100%.

4. Participant Satisfaction and Safety

Table 32 presents the percentage of participants who “agree” or “strongly agree” with statements about their satisfaction with PSU and their safety on campus. The majority of respondents would recommend PSU to others and would still attend PSU if they had to make the choice again (69% and 58%, respectively). When asked about general safety, most participants agreed that they feel safe at their college (57%). However, under half of respondents feel safe from sexual harassment (44%), sexual violence (46%), and stalking (43%) on or around their campus. In addition, only 10% of participants reported that they do not believe sexual violence is a problem at PSU.

5. Perceptions of How PSU Might Handle a Report of Sexual Misconduct

Participants were asked to respond to statements describing how they thought their college might handle a sexual misconduct report. Table 33 summarizes participants’ perceptions of how “likely” or “very likely” they believe PSU would be able to handle a report of sexual misconduct. The majority of participants believed that PSU would do its best to honor the request of the person about how to go forward with the case (51%). They also thought it was likely that PSU would support (51%) and protect (52%) the victim, as well as maintain their privacy (68%).

The institution would have a hard time supporting the person who made the report.	31%	197/645
The institution would punish the person who made the report.	13%	85/645

6. Exposure to Sexual Misconduct Information and Education

Participants were asked about their exposure to information or education about sexual misconduct before and since enrolling at their college. Over three-quarters (76%) of participants reported that they had received information about sexual misconduct prior to attending PSU (Table 34).

BEFORE coming to Plymouth State University, had you received any information or education about sexual misconduct?
Yes, I had received information or education about sexual misconduct.	76%	490/641

Table 35 shows that participants reported a range of rates of exposure to sexual misconduct education and information at PSU. Students were most likely to have discussed the topic of sexual misconduct with friends (78%) or seen posters about sexual misconduct (54%). Most students had received written or verbal information about the student code of conduct or honor code (59%) and about Title IX protections against sexual misconduct (57%). Less than half (47%) of respondents had received written or verbal information on how to report an incident of sexual misconduct.

7. Participant Awareness of Resources and Reporting Options

Table 36 presents the percentage of participants who “agree” or “strongly agree” with statements about reporting sexual misconduct at PSU. Only 35% of students agreed that they know where to get help on campus if a friend or they experienced sexual misconduct, and 39% of students would know where to go to make a report of sexual misconduct.

Appendix: Survey Instrument

Module 0. Introduction

Plymouth State University is dedicated to fostering a safe and inclusive community. We are committed to ensuring that all students have the opportunity to fully benefit from our courses, programs, and activities. Sexual violence, sexual harassment, stalking, and intimate partner violence can interfere with a student's academic performance and emotional and physical well-being. Preventing and remedying sexual misconduct at PSU is essential to ensuring a positive living and learning environment.

As a student at PSU, you have the opportunity to provide us with important information about your experiences since you enrolled. The overall goal of this anonymous survey is to collect information on campus sexual misconduct prevalence and response and to use that information to guide future policies and practices.

Because the survey asks about perceptions and experiences related sexual misconduct, some questions may bring up difficult or uncomfortable feelings for some students. You can download support and reporting resources at the beginning of the survey or at the end of the survey.

REMINDER: Any information about sexual misconduct shared in the survey does NOT constitute a formal report or complaint of misconduct to Plymouth State University and as such will NOT result in any action, disciplinary or otherwise. Should you wish to make a formal report or complaint, please contact:

Janette Wiggett, Title IX Coordinator, Phone: (603)-535-2172, Email: jtwiggett@plymouth.edu

Thank you for sharing information about your experience. Available confidential resources:

This survey was provided by the NH Task Force established under RSA 188: 4-5 and is required by the Task Force to be used by all New Hampshire Institutions of Higher Education.

Purpose

This survey is aimed at understanding the incidence and characteristics of students' experiences of sexual misconduct during their time at Plymouth State University (PSU). For the purposes of this study, we consider sexual misconduct to be an incident of sexual violence; dating violence; domestic violence; gender-based violence; violence based on sexual orientation, gender identity or expression; sexual assault; sexual harassment; or stalking. This research is being carried out by PSU's office of Institutional Research and Assessment (IR&A) on behalf of the president and leadership of PSU and in response to a New Hampshire statute (RSA 188-H) which mandates biennial surveys of students on this topic.

Procedures

You will be asked to complete an online survey. Your participation is confidential. Please answer the questions as openly and honestly as possible. You may skip questions. The survey will take between 20 and 30 minutes to complete and must be completed in one sitting. If you close your browser, you will lose any responses you previously entered. You must be 18 years of age or older to participate. Any computer identification that might identify participants, such as IP addresses, will be deleted from survey submissions. Any comments that participants provide will be separated from other questions so that comments cannot be associated with individual demographic characteristics. Comments may be analyzed using content analysis. You should understand that any form of communication over the Internet presents minimal risk of loss of confidentiality.

Discomforts and Risks

There are minimal risks to participants completing this survey. Some of the questions are personal and might cause discomfort. If any questions asked are disturbing, you may skip those questions or stop responding to the survey at any time. If you experience any discomfort in responding to these questions and would like to speak with someone, you may locate confidential resources via this link:

<https://campus.plymouth.edu/titleIX-sexual-assault/Resources>

Use and Security of Data Collected

Data collected in this survey will be used to produce a summary report of findings that will be submitted to the State of New Hampshire Department of Education (NH DOE) and posted on PSU's website. Data will be aggregated in the summary report, and no individual responses will be identifiable. Data collected through this survey will be stored in a secure location by the Office of Institutional Research and Assessment, and only IR&A and PSU's Title IX Coordinator will have access to the complete data. IR&A may conduct further summary analysis of the data at the request of university leaders. An anonymized data set will be deposited with the NH DOE in accordance with the requirements of RSA 188-H.

Benefits

The results of the survey will provide useful information about students' experiences as victims of sexual misconduct. Since such experiences are often not reported to university or law enforcement authorities, the information gathered in this survey will help PSU better understand how widespread such experiences are among its students and help to strengthen the University's prevention and response efforts.

Voluntary Participation

Participation in this survey is voluntary. If you decide to participate, you do not have to answer any questions on the survey that you do not wish to answer. Individuals will not be identified, and only group data will be reported (i.e., the analysis will include only aggregate data). Refusal to take part in this assessment will involve no penalty or loss of student benefits.

Statement of Confidentiality for Participation

In the event of any publication or presentation resulting from the assessment, no personally identifiable information will be shared. Your confidentiality in participating will be kept to the degree permitted by the technology used. You should understand that any form of communication over the Internet presents minimal risk of loss of confidentiality. PSU will not report any data for groups of fewer than 5 individuals, which may be small enough to compromise confidentiality. Instead, PSU will combine the groups to eliminate any potential identifiable demographic information. Please also remember that you do not have to answer any question or questions about which you are uncomfortable. The survey has been approved by the PSU Institutional Review Board.

Statement of Anonymity for Comments

Upon submission, all comments from participants will be de-identified to make those comments anonymous. Thus, participant comments will not be attributable to their author. However, depending on what you say, others who know you may be able to attribute certain comments to you. In instances where certain comments might be attributable to an individual, PSU will make every effort to de-identify those comments or will remove the comments from the analyses.

Right to Ask Questions

You can ask questions about this assessment in confidence. Questions concerning this project should be directed to:

Janette Wiggett Title IX Coordinator jtwiggett@plymouth.edu (603)-535-2172

Questions regarding the survey process may also be directed to: Melissa Christensen Institutional Research and Assessment melissa.christensen@unh.edu (603)-535-2342

Questions concerning the rights of participants: If you have questions about your rights as a research subject, you may contact Clarissa Uttley, cmuttley@plymouth.edu, with the IRB to discuss them.

PLEASE PRINT A COPY OF THIS CONSENT DOCUMENT FOR YOUR RECORDS OR, IF YOU DO NOT HAVE PRINT CAPABILITIES, YOU MAY CONTACT THE RESEARCHER TO OBTAIN A COPY.

If you agree to take part in this assessment, as described in detail in the preceding paragraphs, please click on the “Next” button below. By clicking on the “Next” button, you will indicate your consent to participate in this study.

M0.A. Are you at least 18 years of age?

Module 7.A. Sexual Violence Victimization

M7.A1. Sexual Violence Victimization Prevalence: The following questions concern sexual experiences that you may have had that were unwanted. We know that these are personal questions, so we did not ask your name or other identifying information. Your information is completely confidential. We hope that this helps you to feel comfortable answering each question honestly. Check the number showing the number of times each experience has happened to you. If several experiences occurred on the same occasion—you should indicate both. We want to know about your experiences since you enrolled at Plymouth State University.

These experiences could occur on- or off-campus, when school is in session or when you are on a break. Someone touched, kissed, or rubbed up against the private areas of my body (lips, breast/chest, crotch or butt) or removed some of my clothes without my consent (but did not attempt sexual penetration) by:

	0 Times (1)	1 Time (2)	2 Times (3)	3+ Times (4)
1. Telling lies, threatening to end the relationship, threatening to spread rumors about me, making promises I knew were untrue, or continually verbally pressuring me after I said I didn't want to. (1)	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
2. Showing displeasure, criticizing my sexuality or attractiveness, getting angry but not using physical force, after I said I didn't want to. (2)	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
3. Taking advantage of me when I was too drunk or out of it to stop what was happening. (3)	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
